

T H WHITE Machinery Imports Partners with Buxtons to Strengthen Jensen Coverage in the Midlands

T H WHITE Machinery Imports is excited to announce a new dealership partnership with Buxtons, a leading groundcare and forestry equipment supplier based in the Midlands. This collaboration will expand access to the industry-renowned Jensen woodchippers, providing exceptional sales and support to customers throughout the region.

Jamie Jagger, Jensen Sales and Dealer Support at T H WHITE Machinery Imports, commented on the partnership: "I am excited to be working closely with Buxtons to bring Jensen woodchippers to more customers in the Midlands. Their dedication to customer service and deep industry knowledge make them an ideal partner. Together, we will ensure that customers receive the highest level of support and access to top-quality equipment."

The new partnership leverages T H WHITE's expertise as the exclusive UK distributor of Jensen products, alongside Buxtons' outstanding reputation for customer care and service in the Midlands. Jensen woodchippers are recognised for their reliability, robust build, and top-tier performance—making them a trusted choice for professionals in forestry, arboriculture and landscaping.

Buxtons has a long-standing reputation as a premier supplier of groundcare and forestry equipment, with decades of experience in providing tailored solutions and advice to their customers.

Kelly Burgess, Sales Director of Buxtons, shared her enthusiasm for the partnership: "We are proud to join forces with T H WHITE Machinery Imports to offer Jensen woodchippers to our customers. The Jensen range perfectly complements our existing portfolio of high-quality equipment, enabling us to provide robust and efficient solutions to meet the needs of forestry and arboriculture professionals in the Midlands. We look forward to building strong relationships with new and existing customers through this exciting partnership."

Nathan Jacobs, Jensen Business Manager at T H WHITE Machinery Imports, expressed his confidence in the partnership: "Buxtons is a fantastic addition to our dealer network, and we are thrilled to have them on board. Their commitment to delivering exceptional service aligns perfectly with our values at T H WHITE. With their expertise and strong customer relationships, this partnership will ensure even better access to Jensen woodchippers in the Midlands."
